

BRED Life Science

SemenAssay® ACP - Kit for Determination of the Acid Phosphatase Level in Seminal Plasma (p-NPP Method)

The kit is used for quantitative detection of acid phosphatase activity in human seminal plasma specimens, and the evaluation of secretory function of the prostate.

Features:

- With better specificity, sensitivity and stability of test results. Convenient to handle.
- Operation in the microplate. Fast and easy-to-use.
- Available for automatic and semiautomatic tests, good to make standardization of test.
- It is ready for use and easy to handle.
- 40 tests per kit and meet the need of batch testing.

